NEW COLLECTOR TO FILL VACANCY

No Appointment in Lowry's Office to Be Made Until Monday Takes Charge.

Pending instructions from United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Collector Lowry will take steps to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William G. Gwatkin, who died before he could begin his duties as deputy collector of internal revenue under the Monroe, U.S. appropriation. It appears probable that, out of courtesy to his successor, Collector Lowry will allow the place to remain vacant until R. L. C. Stearns, the newly appointed collector for the Eastern District of Virginia, assumes office. So far as is known, no applicant has made formal request for consideration since Mr. Gwatkin's death.

Immediately after the death of Mr. Gwatkin, Collector Lowry notified Commissioner of the vacancy. He has received no communication from the department regarding the matter, except a letter from the commissioner expressing grief and surprise. It is presumed that the new income tax deputy collector will be named in the same manner that Mr. Gwatkin was, by the commissioner himself with the approval of the collector.

Revenue Agent D. L. Porter, appointed under the income tax appropriation to do field work in the collection of tax delinquencies, reported to Collector Lowry and Revenue Agent Chapman on Wednesday, and began yesterday his regular work. He has the entire State as the field for his operations.

CAMP SITE CITY NOT DESIGNATED

State Military Board Expects to Decide Matter at Meeting To-Day.

With all members present, the State Military Board met last night in the office of the Governor for the purpose of taking up a number of important questions regarding the militia. Routine matters were considered first, after which the question of officers' camps of instruction and arrangements for the summer maneuvers of troops were discussed. The meeting adjourned until to-day at 1 o'clock.

It was decided to send the medical officers to Fort Meyer from May 17 to 24 for instruction in a number of important matters. It was also decided that the medical officers could be camped at a camp devoted wholly to their branch of the service. In a like manner, the artillery officers will again be sent to an artillery school, St. Albans, Pa., being the selection. Two weeks, from June 1 to 15, will be spent there.

No definite arrangements for the infantry officers' camp were made. Invitations from Roanoke and Fredericksburg were received, and Charles H. Rosely, district commander in chief of the Norfolk and Western Railway, spoke in the interests of the former city.

Colonel Allen Potts, of the quartermaster's department, appeared before the board and explained his needs in the way of horses and wagons for the summer maneuvers. He estimated that the sum of $14,000 will be needed to handle the military stores. The Adjutant-General was authorized to take up with the War Department the matter of an additional appropriation to cover this expense.

The board decided to reimburse the seven companies whose pay at the Virginia Beach encampment last year was deducted from their annual allotment because they went to camp under the minimum strength. Each company will receive about $300.

Governor Stuart, Colonel R. O. James, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Colonel J. L. Lane, Stern, assistant Adjutant-General, General C. C. Vaughan, Jr., and Adjutant-General W. W. Sale were present at the meeting, which was the first since Governor Stuart was inaugurated.

CITY CAMPAIGN OPENS TO-NIGHT.

Umlauf and Ainslie Will Address Mass-Meeting in South Richmond.

HENRY CLAY ISSUES CALL

Oregon Hill Club Invites Candidates to Attend Meeting Tuesday Night.

Politically, the city's eyes turn to-night to South Richmond, where the candidates for municipal office, including the two aspirants for the mayoralty, will foregather under the auspices of the South Richmond Democratic Club to address the voters in the interest of their cause. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the courtroom of Hastings Court, Part II, and President Carter J. Jones, of the club, himself a candidate for re-election to the Common Council from Madison Ward, will preside.

Although the candidacy lists have been closed since February 26, the campaign has progressed without a single public meeting. There have been numerous gatherings of the clans in clubrooms and hotels, but none of them partook of anything like a public character.

Interest in Mayoralty.
Interest in the coming election centres chiefly in the contest for the mayoralty. Both candidates have long ago thrown out their battle lines and lined up their workers. The two rival organizations have held several meetings—in every case family affairs, devoted to the selection of means and means for conducting the active contest that begins with the South Richmond meeting to-night.

Mayor Ainslie appears as a candidate for office for the first time. He has for about ten years been a member of the office within its gift. The Council in joint session elected him Mayor in September, 1909, and he succeeded former Mayor D. C. Richardson, who resigned his office to become judge of the Hustings Court. His administration has been regarded as uniformly successful. Competing with Mayor Ainslie for the city's highest office is Jacob Umlauf, at present Councilman from the body in which he has been a member of the Council for about ten years, and has taken an active interest in the city's affairs. He is a member of the important Finance Committee.

May Develop Issues.
Although the campaign has so far been free from any talk of issues, it is expected that before it is over the two candidates will rest on platforms which, while not radically apart in policy, will be distinct enough to allow separate appeals to the electorate. Both candidates will be at the meeting to-night, and will make their maiden speeches in the present campaign.

The meeting will be of immediate concern to the Madison Ward candidates, who will join the mayoralty candidates in a mass meeting to-night at that ward there are five candidates for election to the Board of Aldermen, three of whom are members of the body. The old men are Joseph E. Powers and David D. Dismore, both of whom are at present a member of the Board from Madison Ward, has not offered for re-election.

The contest for seats in the Common Council from Madison Ward is much more simple. There are six candidates, five of whom must be elected. The only new man is L. J. Cheatwood. The five members of the body are Harvey E. Atkinson, E. R. Fuller, C. Jones, John W. Moore and Gilbert K. Pollock, are all candidates for re-election.

Expect Many Candidates.
A liberal rotation of candidates for seats from the other wards will be on hand to witness the formal opening of the campaign. Including the two aspirants for the office of Mayor, many candidates are offering for election to this number. Thirty are members of the body, and election to the seats they now occupy, and one, Councilman Umlauf, a candidate for the mayoralty. Twenty are new men, and except in a few cases with previous experience in the Council.

President F. S. Williams, of the Henry Clay Democratic Club, issued a call yesterday for a mass meeting of the members and citizens generally to be held at 8 o'clock on Tuesday night at the club's annual ball at the Spring Street. Invitations to attend have been sent by Secretary M. E. Hennessy to Mr. Umlauf, Mr. Ainslie, and to the other candidates.

May Meet in Open.
The Henry Clay Club is to have held a mass-meeting to-night, but agreed to a postponement in order to avoid a conflict with the city hall meeting. The club has a large membership and an influential following. The meeting promises to be well attended. If the weather permits it will be held in the open park corner of Spring and Belvidere Streets, near the corner of the corner of Liberty Hall, near the corner of Broad and Twenty-fifth Streets. The object of the meeting was to perfect organization plans. A good crowd was in attendance, and Mayor Ainslie made a short speech.

ARREST WOMAN AS NERVOUS SHOPLIFTER

Mary Bell, Nineteen, Alleged to Have Stolen Handsome Violet Suit From Dreyfus.

CAUGHT HER AT THEATRE

Detectives Claim That Prisoner, Who Is Locked Up, Admitted She Took Garment.

In the arrest yesterday afternoon of Mary Bell, who gave her age as nineteen years, the police assert that they have a shoplifter who possesses unusual nerve. She is charged with stealing a handsome suit which was valued at $50, from Dreyfus & Company, 291 East Broad Street, on the afternoon of March 27. She was arrested by Detective-Sergeants Atkinson and Kregel, as she was leaving the Colonial Theatre, 215 Thirteenth Street, and was wearing the garments she is alleged to have stolen.

The police headquarters the girl is said to have admitted the theft, and added that she had never before been in trouble. Her home was given as Lynchburg, but she has been in Richmond for some time, but for three weeks she has been in a hotel on Broad Street, and was wearing the garments she is alleged to have stolen.

Gown Appealed to Her.
A. C. Hoover, manager of Dreyfus & Company, told the police that the young woman came to the store and tried on several suits. She was attracted by a striking violet creation seemed to appeal to her fancy. She slipped on the jacket, and the clerk called to her and stood for some time before a mirror. Little attention was paid to her, and she was undressed when she put on her own coat over the violet suit. Then she is alleged to have wrapped up the skirt in a sheet of paper and without further ado walked out of the store.

The theft was discovered shortly afterward and promptly reported to the police. A description of the woman was furnished to Atkinson and Kregel, but no trace of her was found until yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Hoover saw her walk past the store in the clothes she is alleged to have stolen. He recognized the suit, though it had been hidden in a sheet, and followed her until she went into the Colonial.

Telephones Detectives.
He telephoned headquarters, and the detectives hurried to the theatre. They waited for her until the end of the performance, and when she left Atkinson quietly touched her on the arm and informed her she was under arrest. She appeared perfectly calm and had very little to say. Later, the police said she confessed.

At the First Police Station, where she was locked up, she discarded the violet suit and was furnished with one of her own which she said she had stolen. The other will be used as evidence when the case is called to-day in Police Court.

The police say that there is not the slightest doubt but that the prisoner is the one who took the suit from Dreyfus & Co. She was positively identified by numerous clerks, who said that they distinctly recalled her from when she was in the store and tried on the suit. She could give no reason for committing the theft.

T. M. RUTHERFORD HAS PASSED AWAY

Citizen Long Prominent in Social and Industrial Life Dies After Prolonged Illness.

Thomas M. Rutherford, a retired business man and a member of one of the oldest families of Richmond, died last night at 7 o'clock in his home, 112 East Grace Street. He had been in the city for several days, and the members of his family were with him at the end. For two years he had suffered with heart trouble, and had withdrawn from all active business life. He was sixty-two years old.

No arrangements for his funeral were made last night, but they will be announced this morning.

Mr. Rutherford, who retired from business some years ago, occupied a prominent place in the social and industrial life of the city. Fifteen years ago he was a partner in the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company. For many years he was a member of the board of directors of the First National Bank, and resigned two months ago because of ill health. He was a former president of the Westmoreland Club.

He received his education at the Virginia Military Institute, and was a cadet there when the corps took part in the memorable battle of New Market. He was a graduate of the University of Virginia, and later in the war was attached to the staff of General Gordon as a courier.

He was the son of Samuel Rutherford, the grandson of Thomas Rutherford, who at one time owned that part of Richmond which lies west of Second Street.

Mr. Rutherford married Miss Laura Thomas, daughter of James Thomas, another prominent man of a former generation in Richmond. He leaves a wife, three children—James Rutherford, of Richmond; Mrs. George Mayo, of Richmond; and Miss Gwendolyn Rutherford, of Richmond; and five sisters—Miss Jane Rutherford, Miss Sarah Rutherford, both of Richmond; Mrs. L. E. Harvey, of Danville; Mrs. L. E. Wheat, and Mrs. L. R. Goodwin, both of Richmond.

Judge Barham Designated.
Judge J. T. Barham, of the Corporation Court, was designated by Governor Stuart yesterday to hold the April term of the Henrico Circuit Court for Judge R. Carter Scott.

TAG DAY WORKERS READY FOR DUTY

Hundreds of Them Will Take Up Stand This Morning at Central Points of City.

NEED GENEROUS RESPONSE

Visiting Nurse Association Appeals to Public for Funds to Conduct Charity.

If it is not in your mind when you get up this morning it will not be long before you are reminded that this is Tag Day, the annual call of the Instructive Visiting Nurse Association on the public for funds to conduct its benevolent and philanthropic work.

Two hundred workers, plentifully supplied with the little red and white tags will spread over the city this morning at 8 o'clock and take up their stations at strategic points on the streets. Every nook and corner of Richmond will be swept by the workers. Stations will be opened on the principal business streets, the residential thoroughfares and in the suburbs. In order to insure the same kind of respectful, considerate behavior on the part of the workers that has made Tag Day a popular institution with the people of the city, stringent rules have been issued by the officers of the association to govern the occasion.

First and foremost, the workers are instructed not to solicit contributions from people passing on the streets. Under the rules of the association the workers simply stand in a conspicuous place with the tags handy and dispose of them to those who wish to purchase. Second, the workers are warned that they are not to seek to sell tags to persons who are already wearing one. The purchase of a tag early in the morning buys immunity, according to the rules.

Third, no fixed price is to be asked. Each person who wishes to purchase a tag drops in the box whatever amount seems right, whether it be 1 cent or $10.

Fourth, the workers are not to tread over the sidewalks and annoy persons passing, but must remain by the boxes and stands.

In other years the association has seen to it that its workers followed these rules strictly with the result that the public, which recognizes the worthiness of such an institution, has responded generously to such consideration and has liberally supported the work of the association. Last year Tag Day yielded the association nearly $4,000, and if the weather is clear and bright a much larger collection is expected to-day.

The Instructive Visiting Nurse Association is dependent entirely upon the public pocketbook for its support. Its work is for the public, and is not productive of financial reward. Its thirteen experienced nurses are ready at all hours of the day or night to respond to calls from the poor people of Richmond to render ordinary medical aid and to give instruction in the care of the sick. There is no way of estimating the good done by the association in a year, but it is interesting to note that 26,738 visits to the lowly sufferers were made in the last twelve months by the corps of nurses. It distributed 1,052 pints of milk to poor and wretched people and gave away 3,460 pounds of ice to patients in dire need.

MRS. BAILEY FINED

After Securing Continuance She Pleads Guilty to Illicit Sale of Liquor.

After having granted a continuance at her own request, Mrs. George Bailey charged with selling liquor at the Rest, 214 Broad Street, on the charge of breaking the law, yesterday pleaded guilty before Magistrate T. J. Purcell, of Henrico County, and was fined $50 and costs and placed under bond for the sum of $200 for six months. The court sentenced her to the county jail for three months if she failed to move from the county.

The road house has been the resort of automobile parties for many months. When raided by Deputy Sheriff W. W. Sydnor and County Officers Bendall and Miller, a dozen lockers bearing names of well-known men were found, practically all of which were stocked with liquor. A further charge of maintaining an improper resort may be made against Mrs. Bailey, in event of which those known to have visited the place will be brought into court as witnesses.

To Preach at St. Andrews.
The Rev. R. D. Tucker, Bishop Coadjutor of Southern Virginia, will preach at St. Andrews Church and confirm a class at 8 o'clock to-night.

MAY SET DATE FOR BOARD PRIMARY

City Committee Urged to Hold It on June 16—Gives Short Notice to File.

Besides arranging details of the mayoralty and Council primary set for tomorrow at 4 o'clock for a further investigation of alleged gambling at the Jamestown Jockey Club track, Mr. Pollard spent Wednesday in Norfolk and returned here yesterday morning. After consulting the Governor he returned, without making any statement of the purposes of his trip, or the nature of steps he would take to enforce the law. No comment was made on the situation at the Governor's office. At the Attorney-General's office it was stated that Mr. Pollard had nothing to say. The Attorney-General's investigation, it is believed, is purely preliminary, and if he finds on inquiry that facts that have been represented to him are as reported, proceedings may be had not only against the alleged gamblers, but also for the removal from office of those who have failed to take the necessary steps to enforce the statutes.

Following the plan recently inaugurated, Shen & Keegan yesterday sold at auction the property 311 East Grace Street, at the Richmond Real Estate Exchange instead of on the site. More than 100 persons were present, and the property was bid up to $32,000, but the sale was called off. The lot has a front of 32 1/2 feet and is 150 feet deep. The house contains sixteen rooms and a basement.

Members of the City Committee have been asked to name that date for the selection of Democratic candidates for two seats on the Administrative Board. This would mean that the date for filing notices of candidacy would close on April 15, but the short time is hardly regarded as an objection as it seems more probable that those who propose to run have already made up their own minds, and are only awaiting the proper time to make their announcements. The two members of the board whose terms expire on January 1 next are George Carlton McCarthy and John Hirschberg. Both will be candidates for re-election into the office, and it is probable that there will be from one to three others in the race.

One argument advanced for the early primary date is to avoid any conflict with the State-wide referendum election of judges, which is set for September 22. On the other hand there is objection to pushing the election of the board into the top of the Council fight, and thus open the way for a form of vote swapping, which is not particularly objectionable. There are also some Councilmen now offering for re-election who may offer for the Administrative Board later, but who would be embarrassed by appearing as candidates for two offices at the same time.

Thief Goes to Jail.
McKinley Taylor, colored, was convicted yesterday morning in Police Court of stealing a quantity of meat from a wagon owned by A. J. Warren, of 416 North Sixth Street, and sentenced to serve sixty days in jail. Lewis Ricks, George Braxton and Charles Allen, young negroes, were held for the grand jury on the charge of breaking into the office of the Richmond Dairy Company and stealing a bag containing sick, counterfeit and foreign notes.
